Message from CEO & Chair

On behalf of the Jim Pattison Children's Hospital Foundation Board of Directors and staff team, we wish to express our genuine appreciation to you, our valued donors, for allowing us to continue the vision in helping shape maternal and children's health in Saskatchewan.

Our Foundation continues to engage in efforts across the province and throughout Canada, committed to increasing and generating revenue in support of research, procurement of the very best medical equipment, driving innovation and advancements for world-class patient, family-focused care at Jim Pattison Children's Hospital and throughout the province. With your generosity, ongoing encouragement and contributions, each dollar we raise stays in Saskatchewan to support those we serve.

As we celebrate the third anniversary of the opening of Saskatchewan's Jim Pattison Children's Hospital, our commitment to children and their families remains steadfast. We understand that each day brings new challenges within a health care environment and Saskatchewan's only dedicated children's hospital is no exception.

This past year, over *66,000 children and babies visited JPCH, with over *20,000 children requiring emergency services. It is noteworthy to acknowledge that JPCH has the only Pediatric Intensive Care Unit (PICU) in Saskatchewan, serving babies and children regardless of geography, with a staggering *66.2% of those young patients travelling from outside of Saskatoon to receive specialized care. The children's hospital is truly a provincial facility.

We remain grateful to the ground swell of support from each donor, volunteer, our pediatric and maternal medical teams, the children and their families. It is you who have strengthened the opportunity to reach the four corners of the province with excellence.

Thank you so much for joining our cause and remaining committed in your support of children's and maternal excellence and equal access for our most vulnerable patients.

Brynn Boback-Lane
President & CEO

Dr. Laurentiu Givelichian
Chair of the Board

On behalf of the Government of Saskatchewan and the Ministry of Health, I extend my sincere appreciation to the Jim Pattison Children's Hospital Foundation (JPCHF) for your incredible dedication and hard work in caring for our youngest citizens. Through this work, children from across Saskatchewan are receiving exceptional family-centred health care and medical support much closer to home.

The positive impact of the Foundation's contributions continue to be showcased in Jim Pattison Children's Hospital, which is a source of great pride for Saskatchewan people. Since its grand opening in 2019, the Children's Hospital has provided exceptional maternal and pediatric care to Saskatchewan residents. We appreciate the hard work and dedication of health-care workers who care for Saskatchewan children.

Our government also appreciates the support of citizens and companies who give generously to the Foundation's fundraising campaigns. We are grateful for almost $75 million in contributions made toward the development of the Children's Hospital and the ongoing financial support for newborns, children and expectant mothers from across the province.

We value the crucial role of the JPCHF in supporting the health-care system and extend our best wishes for continued success. Thank you for all you do in helping to enhance the quality of life for women, children, and their families.

Message from the Minister of Health

The Honourable
Paul Merriman
Minister of Health
Government of Saskatchewan

Meet Our Kids: Madisyn

“There’s a chance Madisyn won’t walk until she’s five years old,” was what Madisyn’s mother, Lindsey, was told when her daughter was 22 months old. Madisyn was diagnosed with hypermobility, meaning she is double jointed throughout her whole body.

At Madisyn’s five year check up with her pediatrician, she noticed that Madisyn had something even more serious going on. Madisyn had a major curve in her spine that looked like a backwards “S.” Madisyn was diagnosed with scoliosis and her journey that she believed was reaching a conclusion was about to begin all over again.

What this meant for Madisyn was wearing a back brace for 23 hours of the day. Imagine at five years old being confined to a piece of plastic and not having the ability to live life fully as a kid. Madisyn had to watch her classmates run around the playground at school, wishing she could join in.

Meet Madisyn
Age: 11
Hometown: Regina, SK
Condition: Scoliosis

In December 2021 Madisyn’s family received the x-rays that would change their lives significantly. The curves in Madisyn’s spine continued to get worse, to the point where a spinal fusion was needed.

In June 2022, Madisyn underwent a ten hour spinal fusion surgery where she had two titanium rods and 20 screws inserted in her back. During surgery, Madisyn lost a massive amount of blood requiring her to undergo two blood transfusions, a platelet transfusion, and two bone grafts. After Madisyn’s surgery, she continued her fight on life support in Saskatchewan’s only Pediatric Intensive Care Unit at Jim Pattison Children’s Hospital.

“ Our experience at Jim Pattison Children’s Hospital was amazing. Starting off with her surgeon and surgical team to the Intensive Care Unit nurses and doctors and everyone on the Pediatric Inpatients Unit, I truly cannot thank them enough. ”

– Lindsey about their time at JPCH.

After correcting the curvature in her spine, Madisyn can do the things she loves again like camping, swimming, and singing, now without the pain she experienced before. When Madisyn grows up, she dreams of being a doctor so that she can help sick kids in Saskatchewan just like her.

5 Extraordinary Things You Made Possible This Year

Children in Hospital Have Access to Child Life Programs Because of Your Support

In the Teammates for Kids Child Life Zone, children are able to express themselves through music and art, where instruments can be played, songs can be sung, and painting, sculpting or crafting is available. Kids in hospital can enjoy literacy through the Child Life library and book giveaways, learn basic nutrition or go to the family theatre to watch a movie with their family. Patients can enjoy games and surprise visits from superheroes or Santa! The Mosaic Child Life Program helps children better understand pediatric medical equipment, how it is used and why. A partial ambulance in the Child Life Zone allows kids to explore, see the layout, and to familiarize themselves with medical equipment.

The Mosaic Child Life Program allows kids to be kids, teaches life skills, reduces anxiety and gives positive distractions in a hospital setting. Its services benefit the overall mental health and well-being of patients at JPCH. This vital program eases stress in the hospital environment which greatly improves positive outcomes for our children.

A Mental Health and Dental "Hospital" on Wheels

Working with partners can make for extraordinary results.

Jim Pattison Children's Hospital Foundation embraced the opportunity to partner with Synergy 8 Community Builders, Saskatoon Tribal Council, and Provincial and Federal governments to support a mental health and dental bus. It hit the road fully equipped with health care specialists, dental and mental health programs/treatment which can be brought on-site to elementary schools throughout the area. In year one, this unit served over 690 mental health patients and 250 dental patients throughout seven First Nations communities.

12-year-old Jaylen from Mistawasis First Nation was the first pediatric dental patient to partake in this new delivery of care model.

Adding this service brings health care to our kids and the ease of access has resulted in treating more children around the province.

Helping Kids Cope with the Pandemic

The pandemic brought many health challenges to the forefront. Children and youth were greatly impacted in Saskatchewan and throughout Canada. With newfound medical equipment and mental health priorities, lifesaving gifts from donors help to ensure that the tools needed by our medical professionals are within reach.

Advancement of care simply cannot be done without donor support. Like the pandemic, with every new diagnosis there is a new need, and a new innovation in maternal and pediatric care must be available. Your support helps us meet those continual needs that the pandemic emphasized and regrettably, still does.

You Bring Joy to Kids and Their Families

Holidays are an even more pronounced time when hospitalized children and teens may feel isolated or lonely.

Having a holiday market at the hospital where kids can come down to do some shopping for their families, to decorate gingerbread houses, make cards, or even have a family night at the hospital family theatre helps keep loneliness at bay, and during tough times more importantly, adds some cheer. You help provide these opportunities at no cost to the child.

Your donor support can take a long difficult chemotherapy treatment, and turn it into a better day. Something as simple as making snowflake decorations for their patient room or having hot chocolate and cookies, makes each contribution, big or small, important to each child's recovery and gives great hope, when some days hope may be difficult to find.

You are Helping to Save Tiny Lives

Your support has provided state of the art "Baby Leo" Isolettes, providing sophisticated breathing apparatuses, an infection and temperature controlled environment for our littlest of patients. Medical teams are able to ensure every precious heartbeat and breath is monitored while baby grows inside.

Critical care equipment such as this technology saves little lives.

Meet Carson: 2022 Champion Child

The Children's Miracle Network (CMN) Champions Program honours remarkable children across Canada who have triumphed despite severe medical challenges. Each child acts as an ambassador for his or her local hospital to demonstrate the personal journey children and their families take to overcome illness and injury.

Meet Carson

Age: 13

Hometown: Saskatoon, SK

Condition: Ehlers Danlos Syndrome

Carson has a condition so rare and complex that you've probably never heard of it. But the effects he experiences are all too real.

As a baby, Carson's skin was exceptionally soft and he would get a cut simply by running a finger over the seam of an inflatable toy. He didn't learn to walk until he was 18 months old, and while most kids fall down and get up while learning, just a small tumble would require stitches for Carson. After needing many stitches while learning how to walk, the family decided to see a dermatologist.

At just 23 months old, Carson was diagnosed with a genetic connective tissue disorder called Ehlers Danlos Syndrome (EDS), something the dermatologist hasn't seen in 20 years. The condition causes fragility in the skin's collagen and patients often have complications with hyper-mobility, easy bruising and tearing of the skin, detached retinas, dislocations and joint pain.

For Carson, small bruises can turn into bursitis, with the bruise falling off and leaving an open wound that can take up to six months to heal. He can't walk for long periods because of sore joints, and his aorta is enlarged in two areas preventing him from repetitive heavy lifting or exerting himself.

Carson's life is very different from other kids his age. Carson does not play contact sports or rough house with his friends. Carson is a true champion, never complaining about what he can't do and is enthusiastic about the things he can do. Carson is an extremely caring kid who loves doing good things for others. He doesn't let his diagnosis hold him back from doing his favorite activities like swimming, playing video games, and using his virtual reality headset with his friends.

Fundraising Across Saskatchewan

Pattison Ag Calendar

Pattison Agriculture created a calendar featuring agriculture pictures submitted by farmers across the province, which they sell in all their dealerships. Their inaugural year selling the calendars generated over $12,000 for Jim Pattison Children's Hospital Foundation.

La Ronge Petroleum – Inspired by Denis and Lynda Renaud

Denis and Lynda Renaud at La Ronge Petroleum wrapped one of their trucks with the JPCHF logo to raise awareness while traveling throughout northern Saskatchewan, and encouraged other companies to donate by adding their logos to the decked-out truck. Their goal was to raise $100,000 over four years, but they ended up reaching that goal in only two years and plan to keep the fundraiser rolling!

The Lloyd Pirot Country Music Jam

"Party in the Park" is held at The Aquadeo Resort every August long weekend with proceeds going to Jim Pattison Children's Hospital Foundation. The event includes live music, food, crafts and face painting for every age!

A.J. Gagne, the event organizer, got involved with the project as a way to honour Lloyd Pirot, the former owner of the Aquadeo Hotel, friend, and music jam partner for many years prior to his passing.

This toe tapping event has raised nearly $22,000 over the last four years.

501st Legion – Badlands Garrison

For the first time in two years, the 501st Legion – Badlands Garrison was back at the Saskatoon Entertainment Expo raising funds for Saskatchewan kids in hospital! Everyone who attended the Expo had a chance to take a picture with Star Wars characters for a donation to Jim Pattison Children's Hospital Foundation. Since 2016, they have raised almost $8,000.

Centennial Charger's Charity Classic Basketball Tournament

Each year at the Centennial Charger Charity Classic Basketball Tournament, the team from Centennial Collegiate, their classmates and coach, raise money for kids and families requiring specialized care at Jim Pattison Children's Hospital. Through their incredible leadership, the team has raised over $30,000 since 2010! There is nothing better than kids helping kids!

Purdy's Chocolatier Dear Santa

Every year during the holiday season, Purdy's Chocolatier supports children's hospitals across the country with their Dear Santa Collection. For each purchase of a Dear Santa chocolate bar or gift box in Saskatchewan, proceeds go to helping children and families in the province receive specialized care. With the help of our family ambassadors the past two years, Purdy's has donated close to $5,000.

Gifts That Change Lives

The Mosaic Company

In August 2021, The Mosaic Company announced an additional funding commitment of $2 million to Jim Pattison Children's Hospital Foundation to sustain and grow The Mosaic Child Life Program, reaffirming their long-term commitment to health care in Saskatchewan. "A decade ago, we announced our initial capital campaign investment, Saskatchewan's first children's hospital was nothing more than renderings and a dream. Today, children are receiving the best care in a place made especially for them, close to home," said Joc O'Rourke, President and CEO of The Mosaic Company. "This new funding will ensure children and their families receive specialized child life therapy as part of their care."

Conexus Credit Union

Conexus Credit Union is a long-time partner of Jim Pattison Children's Hospital Foundation, helping to enhance maternal and children's health care through event sponsorships and a matching fund program. Their generous support to JPCHF continued in 2022 with a gift of $750,000, launching the Conexus Credit Union Family Amenities Fund. The new program is transforming care for families with limited financial resources who require specialized care at Jim Pattison Children's Hospital. Working with the dedicated Social Workers of Interprofessional Practice at JPCH, the program is aimed at easing the financial burden on Saskatchewan families by offering caregivers the opportunity to apply for assistance in coping with the unexpected costs of having a loved one in the hospital.

Dennis Day

Community involvement has always been important to the Day family of Carnduff, SK. Dennis Day's mother Vi and late father Tony, instilled the value of giving back to his community at a young age. "I want to help people like my parents have always done. Caring for the community is important in my family," said Dennis. With his parents and family values in mind, Dennis Day generously gifted $250,000 to Saskatchewan's Jim Pattison Children's Hospital Foundation helping the continued enhancement of health care for children across the province. His generous gift is recognized with the naming of a Treatment Room within Day Medicine and Pediatric Oncology at JPCH.

Meet Legacy Builders, Donna and Steve Kraus

Donna and Steve Kraus worked hard and cared about their community. Unable to have children of their own, it was their wish to help the future families of our province, and generously included three Saskatchewan charities in their estate planning. Their impactful legacy gift of $450,000 to JPCHF will help transform the future of specialized health care for children and moms-to-be in every corner of the province, for years to come.

Meet Our Kids: Carter

After a normal pregnancy and birth, Cole and Holly could have never imagined that their son Carter would be diagnosed with a rare disease that only one in 300,000 people are diagnosed with, but that was their reality. "The next thing we know, the pediatrician is coming in telling us that he seems to have a skin condition and we were both in shock. She then said that Carter had to be medically transported to JPCH," said Holly as she recalled her experience after giving birth to Carter.

It was after Carter was transferred from Prince Albert to the Neonatal Intensive Care Unit (NICU) at JPCH, just a mere two hours after his birth, that he was diagnosed with lamellar ichthyosis, a rare skin disease. When a child is born with lamellar ichthyosis, they are encased in a collodion membrane. Once that membrane has shed, the newborn is left with plate-like scales that resembles fish scales. Those affected by this disease, like Carter, are prone to dehydration, a decreased ability to sweat, an increased sensitivity to heat, and entropion eyes where Carter's eyelids will turn inwards when the skin becomes too tight.

"He's my whole life. Like I wake up and it's Carter. Everything I do is for him," explained Holly.

Holly, Cole, and Carter travel to Saskatoon from Prince Albert for appointments every four to six months so that Carter can have his ears cleaned at JPCH, which involves Carter receiving general anesthesia and involves a lot of trust for the family.

“ They just care, like they really do. They do what they say and they say what they're going to do. It's a tough thing to give your child to a stranger but you know they will treat him like he's their own. ”

- Holly, Carter's mom

Though Carter's condition will never go away, it was their time in the NICU at JPCH and the follow-up appointments with their team that will allow Carter to live life to the fullest. In order to manage Carter's condition, every day he requires two baths of at least 40 minutes in a specialized tub, eye drops and ear drops at night to ensure they stay moisturized, and plenty of lotion but for Holly and Cole, it's worth it.

"The children's hospital saved his life because without it, we may not have him here with us today," said Cole.

5 Ways You Can Support

Join the Sunshine Maker Club

Our monthly giving program is a meaningful way to donate via pre-authorized payments of $20 or more each month.

Start a Community Fundraiser

We rely on supporters like you to hold community events, such as bake sales, golf tournaments, lemonade stands, etc., across our province to help fund urgently needed equipment, programming, and research projects in Saskatchewan.

Legacy Giving

Everyone wants to leave a legacy, something they will be remembered for. A planned gift allows you to leave a larger donation than may be possible during your lifetime.

Create a Personal Fundraising Page

There's no easier way to give back to Saskatchewan children in hospital than to rally friends and family through an online personal fundraising page.

Shop Sprout Gift Co.

Located on the main floor of Jim Pattison Children's Hospital, Sprout Gift Co. carries a selection of gifts, fashion, toys, games, and home decor, both in-store and online with 100% proceeds supporting JPCHF.
